

Speak geek but need to promote to other life forms?

Get intelligence, creativity and experience—in a snap

Aldea's got that. We're a comprehensive team of research, technology and communications professionals considered experts in our fields—and we're committed to your company's growth and stability.

Save your energy and see great results

Whether you need a temporary helping hand or a full-time steward for your project, Aldea offers the kind of innovative services, diverse brain power and cutting-edge vision that can ensure success.

Drawing on a powerful mix of technological vision, business know-how and marketing expertise, we deliver strategic solutions. Since 1993, Aldea has been dedicated to—and successful at—helping technologists, academic institutions, governmental organizations and nonprofit organizations achieve their goals and emerge as leaders in the 21st century digital economy.

What's in it for you—a one-stop idea shop

Marketing and design services. Through newsletters, magazines, brochures, the web, email and ecards, Aldea delivers your message to the right audience. We furnish creative writing, editorial and design services for solutions that get noticed.

Meeting planning. Workshops, conference and tradeshow are a breeze with Aldea on your side. We'll handle all the local arrangements, promotion, registration, funds processing, sponsors and exhibitor contact, workshop facilitation and collateral.

Government relations. Using the kind of clear, concise communications that state- and federal-level high-technology projects demand, Aldea connects government to you and you to government.

Grant development and proposal writing. Aldea specializes in writing—and winning—high-technology grants and proposals, specifically those related to broadband and the Internet. How much funding can we win for you?

Fresh ideas served daily
